Discussion question: You’ve seen our progress reports and the highlights we just shared, and most of you or your teams get to work with us in some capacity. Given COVID-19 and all that is happening in the current climate, would you say the Preservation Compact’s work is relevant? Are we focusing on the right thing? Are there other issues out there that we should be thinking about, or are we on track? Is there anything we should shift our focus away from, or are there other issues we should be engaged in or exploring?
